ATTRACTIONS BRING CROWD

First "Big Wednesday" is Aided by Circus and Tabernacle in Drawing People.

MANY ENJOY THE DAY HERE

Program Will be Carried on Tonight When Street Lights Are Turned on First Time.

The combined attractions here today attracted a crowd that was as large if not larger than any one which has been here in recent months despite the fact that farmers are very busy. People began to arrive early this morning and by noon the streets were crowded. A few attended the circus this afternoon while more took advantage of the free shows and the tabernacle meeting.

A short program will be carried out tonight when the new decorative sidewalk lights will be turned on and presented to the city. Anthony Schreite, president of the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association will make the presentation speech and Mayor B. A. Black will make the speech of acceptance for the city. The lights will be turned on promptly at eight o'clock after which a band concert will be given at the corner of Main and Second streets.

The turning on of the lights marks the close of a great work by the members of the Retail Merchants' Association. They have achieved that which looked impossible in the beginning but they kept on until they were finally victorious. After tonight Rushville will stand out distinctly among all cities of its size and class in Indiana as there are few which can brag of such work. The lights are decorative as well as they are useful. Other cities that have installed them have found them very beneficial.

The program for today included band concerts all day long and free picture shows. Many took advantage of the latter amusement. The four shows were free to everyone from nine o'clock this morning until five o'clock this afternoon.

Most of the merchants enjoyed a good business. Many purchasers took advantage of the numerous bargains offered in most all the stores.

The fact that the first "Big Wednesday" was apparently a success insures their life for the remainder of the summer. It is likely that the members of the association will decide on some regular schedule on which to hold the bargain days.

ALLEN R. HOLDEN ELECTED

Named as Member of School Board Succeeding W. E. Wallace.

Allen R. Holden was named a member of the school board last night by the city council. Mr. Holden will take the place of W. E. Wallace, whose time of office has expired. He has been a member of the board before, being connected in this capacity when the high school building burned in 1906, and was a member when the Graham school was completed. Each member of the board is elected for a period of three years.

GETS ANONYMOUS LETTER.

The Rev. W. W. Orr this morning received an anonymous letter from a woman of the Christian Science faith. It contained twenty-two questions and asked that the evangelist answer them tonight. The writer promised to be there and hear the answers.

GETS MERITED PROMOTION

Jet Parker is Named as Head of the Mail Order House.

The many local friends of Jet Parker will be pleased to learn that he has received a much merited promotion with the large retail clothing firm by which he has been employed since leaving this city. He has been working in one of the six retail stores of the concern at Cleveland. He has been appointed manager of the mail order business which is a new business that the firm is just now installing. He will move to Cincinnati and will have his offices there in connection with the company's retail store in that city.

FAILS TO RENEW AND HOUSE BURNS

Atwell Jackson Allows Insurance on Property to Expire and Last Night It Was Destroyed.

FIRE CATCHES FROM A LAMP

The large and spacious home of Atwell Jackson in Andersonville was burned down last night at a loss of about two thousand dollars. All of the household goods were saved but the structure was razed to the ground. The fire caught from a blazing lamp in one of the rooms in the house. The house was a very old but a large and beautiful residence. It had been standing in Andersonville for many years and might be properly termed one of the landmarks of the community. The house is a total loss to Mr. Jackson as he carried no insurance. The insurance expired about a year ago and he neglected to renew it.

SUMMER BEGINS THEN

Tomorrow is Longest Day Says the Astronomer.

Tomorrow will be the longest day of the year, according to the calculations of Dr. J. Morrison, an astronomer of eminence, who furnishes authoritative data of this sort to various publications. The date of the beginning of summer varies in different years, the popular rule being that June 21 is to be accepted. This rule has led to some confusion this year, tomorrow being picked by some of the astronomically wise to usher in the season of real heat. Promptly at eight o'clock tomorrow morning summer will begin.

ANNOUNCEMENT INCORRECT

Parents Say Communication is Not Authorized by Them.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beabout of Cherry Grove have requested it to be stated that the announcement of their daughter's coming marriage to William Waggoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Waggoner, which was announced in last evening's Daily Republican, is incorrect. They declare that they did not authorize the announcement. It was received through the mail at this office and was signed.

Evidently it was done with malicious intent and it may be possible that the name of the sneak who sent the communication may be determined definitely.

COUNCIL PASSES VEHICLE LAW

Councilman Parsons Would Have Those Scales Removed, But Meets Opposition.

TRANSACT MUCH BUSINESS

Defer Action on Perkins Street Paying—Turn Down Claim of Ed Spradling.

The scales in front of the Hiner livery stable in Perkins street came up for more discussion last night at the regular meeting of the city council. The petition was presented by A. B. Flint at the last meeting, June 6, and stated that these scales were unsightly and unbecoming to the street. Councilman C. H. Parsons made the principal stand against them and asked the city attorney for the law on street obstructions.

Councilman Norris stated that he could not see just where the scales came in as an obstruction. After it was shown that the scales were not an obstruction and were safe to travel over, Dr. Parsons desired that they be removed because of the fact that in all probability the brick street would be put in and it would necessitate their removal sooner or later. The city attorney stated that the city would be within the law if they asked J. M. Gwinn, the owner of the building to remove the scales. Councilman Parsons moved that the scales be removed within ten days or the city would remove them at the expense of the property owner. There was no second to his motion and action on the petition was deferred once more.

Considerable complaint has been heard of late about boxes, barrels and papers being left in the alleys and streets. The city marshal was instructed to notify all property owners and places of business to remove these obstructions within five days or they would be prosecuted.

The street and alley committee reported that they had purchased a street sprinkler from Oneal Bros. for $125. This was left over from the last meeting and the committee had power to act.

Residents of the city have been in the habit lately of killing cats and dogs and then sending for Watt Bartlett. In this way the city has to pay for the burial. After this Mr. Bartlett will only bury those that are killed by the police or when told to do so by the officers.

The gutter in Harrison street, between Second and Third streets was reported to be in a very bad condition and is too low to drain the water into second street. The property owners will be instructed to construct cement gutters.

The question of downspouts from buildings came up for discussion. There is an ordinance against these spouts being allowed to drain the water over the sidewalk and it states that they must go under the ground. The street commissioner was ordered to look after all these and report same to the city clerk.

The action on the petition to pave Perkins street was deferred and more time was given City Engineer Cameron in which to make his estimate of the cost. Mr. Cameron has been ill and has not been able to work on the plans.

Probably the most important thing done at the meeting last night was the passing of the vehicle ordinance. The ordinance will tend to stop congestion of traffic and prevent injuries. It provides that all vehicles, and vehicles here in its broadest sense, applying to bicycles, automobiles, motorcycles and rigs of all kinds, shall go to the right at all times. This

MERCHANTS VIE WITH EACH OTHER

Strive to Outdo One Another in Decorating For Coming Tri Kappa Convention.

MANY ATTRACTIVE WINDOWS

Several Delegates Arrive Today For Event—Will be in Full Swing Tomorrow.

Merchants are apparently vying with one another in decorating for the Tri Kappa State convention which will be held tomorrow and Friday. The decorations are conceded to be more elaborate than those that have been made on any other occasion when the city has been a host to guests from other cities.

The most pretentious decorations have been made and it is said that even more work will be done in some stores. Merchants have not been content with exterior decorations alone. Many stores are a perfect mass of black and white on the interior. The colors are used to advantage in decorating the side walls and ceiling.

The greatest amount of decorating has been done, however, in the windows and outside. Every street light in the city has long black and white pennants streaming from it, while most of the iron posts have been wrapped in black and white. In Main street a line of pennants has been supported above the street from Harrington & Mullin's to Ben A. Cox's shoe store.

There are many attractive windows that are worthy of mention by reason of the unique methods used. Ben A. Cox has a very attractive window, as has the Mauzy Company and T. W. Betker. Hogsett's window is simple but very distinctive, while there are numerous others where clever ideas have been used. Lytle's drug store is beautifully arranged in black and white on the inside.

Many delegates are expected to arrive this evening and most of the guests will be here by tomorrow at noon when the convention proper will be in full swing. The business session tomorrow afternoon will be followed by a reception of the patronesses at the Watson home.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued today to Riley H. Alexander and Genevieve Griffith.

PAINFULLY BURNED.

Mrs. W. H. Young of Jersey City was painfully burned this morning while canning cherries. Mrs. Young was using sealing wax and in some manner it exploded, going over her hands and arms.

COMMENT ON REVIVAL.

Both Connersville papers in yesterday's issue commented on the revival which is now in progress here. They say that the influence of the meeting is far reaching and that a few from that city have been attending.

TO SELL TABERNACLE.

The finance committee of the local organization will receive sealed bids for the tabernacle up until ten o'clock next Tuesday. Bids may be mailed or given to T. M. Green, chairman, or Frank Reynolds, secretary of the building committee. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Italy produces 10,000,000 gross of buttons of vegetable ivory each year. In its fourteen factories are employed numbering 6000.

FIRE FIGHTER IS HURT

Andersonville Blacksmith Suffers Severe Injury From Broken Glass.

While attempting to put out the fire at the Atwell Jackman's home in Andersonville last night, Clarence Maple, a blacksmith of that place, was seriously hurt when he cut his wrist on a broken window pane. A piece of glass was run through his wrist and protruded on the other side. The large artery in his arm was severed and it was some time before the attending physician could stop the flow of blood.

URGE PEOPLE TO LOCK HOMES

Police Say Extreme Care Should be Used When Circus is in the City.

MANY PLACES TO GO TONIGHT

The residents of Rushville are admonished by the police to carefully lock their homes this evening before leaving for the various places where crowds will gather. The police request that special precaution be taken on account of the fact that there is a circus in the city. There is generally a crowd of men who follow shows, according to the police, that will take advantage of the fact that people are away from their homes. It is very likely that few people will remain at home this evening on account of the many things going on. A monster tabernacle crowd is expected as well as large crowds for the band concert and circus.

CHICKEN HOUSE BURNED

Department Called Yesterday to the Home of John Wolverton.

The fire department made its third run in as many days yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock when they answered a call from box 42 at the corner of Morgan and Seventh streets. Fire was found in the chicken house of John Wolverton, who lives in one of the Guffin houses in Morgan street. The blaze was extinguished before the department arrived and Mr. Wolverton's loss will be about $15.

NEED FIRE ALARM BOX

Residents Near Main and Eleventh Realize the Danger.

The necessity of a fire alarm box at the corner of Eleventh and Main streets has been impressed on the residents of that neighborhood more forcibly in the last few days by reason of the last two fires. They were both in that vicinity and in each case it was necessary to run three blocks to reach an alarm. The two nearest boxes are at the corner of Ninth and Morgan and the corner of Ninth and Perkins. There are many beautiful residences in that district and if a fire was given good headway great havoc would be played while the person was running to an alarm box.

ATTENDS MEETING.

Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C., left this morning for St. Joseph, Mich., to attend the meeting of the Central Electric Railroad Association which meets there tomorrow.

25 CONVERSIONS MARK THE DAY

Fifteen Try Sawdust Trail at the Evening Service at the Tabernacle.

FEW CONVERTS IN AFTERNOON

Evangelist Orr Declares That Man Must Believe and Receive Christ to be Saved.

At the close of the after meeting at the tabernacle last night, a count showed that fifteen had come forward to accept Christ. It was announced that ten had confessed their sins at the prayer meeting at the Mission church in South Pearl street yesterday afternoon, which makes a total of twenty-five conversions yesterday. Evangelist Orr was present and talked at the Mission church in the afternoon.

At the beginning of the meeting the evangelist wanted to know how many had something to report that was for the good of the revival. He said that he had three things: That word was received from the factory district that factory men would make a demonstration and march to the tabernacle Thursday evening if the brass band would be provided and one hundred and fifty seats were reserved for them; that ten had been converted at the afternoon prayer meeting and that fifty-four men met at Watson, Titcomb & Green's office yesterday morning to plan to save souls and that they would hold a similar meeting after last night's service. The Rev. Mr. Meacham reported that one man would renew his vows at last night's meeting.

The evangelist declared that the Christians out of the church are hurting the meeting more than they think. He urged that all who belong to other churches in other cities come forward and place their letters in the local churches. He said that the fight with the devil would be on today and asked how many would attend the afternoon and night meeting today. "I am not going to watch you, but God will," he declared. "Tomorrow we'll find who's who." He announced a meeting of the women personal workers to be held after the regular services last night.

The Rev. Mr. Orr preached a convincing sermon last night which was backed up by a mass of scripture as was never produced in any one sermon heard here. He used argument and appealed rather to the audience's sound judgment than their feelings. It was the main thought of his sermon that men can not be saved without believing and receiving Christ.

The evangelist pointed out that there is a difference between the present day meaning of the two words, receive and believe. He said that a man might believe in any number of women, but that he received only one as his wife. He asked the question, "why is faith necessary and what do we mean by faith?" He declared that faith means believing in Jesus and accepting him.

Continuing, the evangelist said, "I want you not only to believe in Christ but to truly, and after deliberate thought, receive him tonight. There are not many men in this town who do not believe in Him, but there is a large number who do believe, and who will not receive him. Every man and woman is condemned and is a criminal if he or she does not receive Christ. The rejection of God is the great sin that damns men."

The evangelist likened man's sins to a great tree. He said that the great trunk is the rejection of God and upon that trunk the limbs of licentiousness, egotism, drunkenness and other evils sprout and grow. He (Continued on Page Four.)

SANE FOURTH A SUCCESS.

What seemed to many three years ago an impossible thing is already practically an accomplished fact. The Sane Fourth idea has not only spread rapidly, but wherever adopted, the improved conditions, from every standpoint have abundantly demonstrated its wisdom. Other amusements than dangerous explosives have been found for young and old, and the only real sufferers are the firework makers, the largest of which has recently gone into bankruptcy. Night fireworks will continue to be used, but under the direction of police or fire departments in a way to render the display safe to spectators and to minimize the danger to those in charge. The indications are from all parts of the country that the day this year will be made the occasion for beautiful and instructive historical parades, and that the new custom now so successfully inaugurated will become permanent. One stirring historical float will do more to nurture real patriotism than a carload of cannon crackers.—H. H. Windsor in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.

An artisan working with keen-edged tools must exercise extreme care in order to prevent harm to himself. If he is surrounded by circular saws revolving at lightning speed, or with vats of corrosive acids, or furnaces of molten steel, these perils are at least in open view, and may be guarded against. It is different, however, with the dangers lurking in dust. They are invisible, but none the less deadly. In a steel-grinding factory, the air is charged

DANGER LURKS IN MILD DRINK NO CELEBRATION TO BE HELD HERE NEW WHEAT TO BE SOLD BY JULY 1

Innocent Stomachs Often Suffer For Too Frequent Seeking After Relief From Heat.

SOME HOT WEATHER ADVICE

Very Thing That Makes Some Drinks Refreshing, Also Makes Them Harmful.

Beware of the insidious summer drink.

Danger lurks at the bottom of many a soda fountain glass, no less than in its more disreputable brother of the barroom. Cooling and refreshing they may be, but innocent stomachs often pay the penalty of a too frequent seeking after this form of relief from the heat.

"The trouble with almost all drug store drinks is that they are too cold," says Dr. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health. "Even water is harmful when too cold, and ice water does more harm than all the other drinks put together. Cool water without ice is more effective in quenching thirst and the stomach does not suffer."

Other beverages served at the soda fountains are actually harmful in themselves. Statistics show that more than one drug victim traces his downfall to indulgence in certain "soft" drinks. The very thing that makes them refreshing also makes them harmful.

Nearly all doctors nowadays advise against the use of alcoholic beverages for cooling purposes. Their effect is exactly opposite. Instead of cooling the body alcohol heats it, they say.

Cool water is the only liquid the body needs in hot weather or any other time, as far as the medical profession has been able to discover. To persons who insist on having something with more zest to it, the phosphates are recommended as least harmful. Lemonade containing a raw egg is both refreshing and invigorating for persons not afflicted with acid stomachs. Buttermilk is more popular than ever before in Rushville.

SANE FOURTH A SUCCESS.CRUELTY TO DUMB ANIMALS*GUARANTEED EGGS?

There is a field here for a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, as there is not a day but what some man or boy is seen abusing a horse on a Rushville street. The very fact that there is no one to make complaint against such cruelty, seems to be taken as a warrant by some that they can beat a horse, or be cruel to a dumb brute without fear of being prosecuted. A man that will needlessly abuse a horse is lower in intelligence than the animal itself, yet we see upon the streets every day some man uselessly whipping a horse urging the animal into a gallop, jerking the lines viciously, or rearing the horse's head into the air, in a manner that makes the average onlooker's blood fairly boil with rage.

The public ought to adopt some means to punish the fellow who needlessly abuses a horse on the streets or in the barn. A man or boy who will needlessly abuse a dumb animal, whether it be a horse or dog, is not to be trusted in other things, nor is he worthy of your patronage, whether he operates a dray line or is at the head of a banking institution.

A few days ago a Rushville lady quit her milkman and he wondered why, but the lady would give no reason. She was not slow in telling the neighbors, however, that the man had been needlessly whipping his horse. She said if the man was cruel to his horse there was every reason to believe that he would also be cruel to his cows. She said she did not want to use milk from whipped cows.

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

Probable That Glorious Fourth Will be Passed Unnoticed Except by General Closing of Stores.

HAS NOT BEEN CUSTOM HERE

Likely That Many Will Seek Frolic in Country—Big Plans at Knightstown.

According to the custom in former years, it seems very likely that Rushville will not celebrate the Fourth of July this year. It has been the custom more for Rushville people what few cared for the usual celebration, to go to Indianapolis and other cities. Last year a number were present at the celebration at Knightstown, where a similar program will be carried out this year.

Rushville people seem to enjoy a frolic in the country on the national holiday more than any other thing. Picnic parties are more common than delegations who attend celebrations in other cities. It is likely that the only recognition of the day here will be a general closing of all business houses, banks, saloons, postoffices and offices.

Small boys generally provide all of the noise making necessary. The Fourth falls on Tuesday this year.

Knightstown will celebrate the glorious Fourth of July in good old-fashioned style this year, with horse racing and other races, and a splendid display of fireworks at night. One of the best bands in the country, the Greenfield Military Band, has been secured for the event, and with other open-air performances, Knightstown will celebrate this year as she never did before.

The merchants of the town have contributed liberally to a fund with which to purchase fireworks of all kinds and to defray other expenses incident to a celebration of this kind. A canvass of the town met with a hearty response, and over $100 was pledged within a short time. Last year Knightstown had a celebration and entertained 6,000 people from a radius of twenty-five miles around, and is expecting to have 10,000 guests this year.

GARANTIED EGGS?

H. E. Barnard, State food and drug commissioner, has indorsed a plan advanced by a Vincennes produce dealer for educating the housewives of that city in the matter of the purchase of good eggs. The dealer was among the first to see the advantage of the new law regulating the sale of eggs, and has prepared specially made cartons, each to contain a dozen eggs. He guarantees that every egg sold in one of the boxes has been candled and found good and the carton is kept in a refrigerator until taken for delivery direct to the housewife. When the carton is packed for storage and delivery, it is sealed with the seal of the dealer, and the seal is left unbroken until the carton is opened by the housewife. Under such a plan, Mr. Barnard says, the housewife may be assured that she is getting good eggs.

Two or three firms in some of the larger cities in the north central part of the state have refused to join the movement to buy eggs on the "loss off" plan, the plan by which the farmer is to be made to stand the loss on all bad eggs he sells. The dealers say they will continue to buy all eggs offered to their hucksters. Mr. Barnard has sent an inspector to the establishments of these firms, with instructions to prosecute in the event bad eggs are found in their shipments.

That is Prediction of Many Farmers Who Say Early Threshing is in Order.

FIRST WHEAT HAS BEEN CUT

All Crops Are In Fair Condition—Date Will be Usually Heavy.

Since the first wheat cutting has been announced in the Daily Republican, it is well to stop and consider just how early the crop will be this year. It is said that the crop will be cut and threshed earlier than at any time within the memory of the oldest residents of the county. It is seldom the case that wheat cutting is started before the last week in June.

Farmers have made the prediction that new wheat will be on the market in Rushville by the Fourth of July. It has been said that a few loads will be hauled to the local elevators by the first of next month. There seems to be no doubt but what that assertion is very conservative since most wheat over the county is now almost in the condition to be cut. It is not often that new wheat appears on the local markets before the tenth or fifteenth of July. The wheat crop is fully two weeks early this year. It is predicted that the greater portion of the wheat in the county will be in the shock before this month ends.

Farmers from every part of Rush county who have been in Rushville within the last few days have expressed surprise at the fact that wheat is already beginning to head. Some fields began showing heads as early as May 15. All agree that this is remarkably early. The farmers also say present indications point to the earliest harvest they have ever known. They say wheat cutting usually begins in this section of Indiana, July 1.

Take the county over, the prospect for the bumper wheat crop has been better than it is at present. This is true in particular of wheat that was sown in fallow ground. Wheat sown in corn does not average quite so good. Few farmers report any evidences of the presence of fly. A few say their wheat got a slight tint of yellow during the hot, dry weather of two weeks ago, but say it is showing a much better color since the rains of the last few days.

All farm crops in Rush county are in fair condition. The corn received just what it needed in the recent rains and is growing with a rapidity almost surprising. Nearly all the local farmers got their corn in the ground in the first half of May and it will be well on its way by the time the "corn weather," which is always looked for in June, arrives.

Oats looks well and unless some misfortune overtakes them, will make an unusually heavy crop. Meadows are doing as well as could be desired and pastures could not be finer. Farmers as a class, are not optimistic persons, but most of those in Rush county admit they never had a finer prospect for crops than they have at present.

GAIN IN POTATOES.

During the decade prior to 1909 potatoes increased 53,520 acres, or 17.2 per cent. From 1879, when 128,848 acres were harvested, potatoes rose to 198,476 in 1889; to 311,963 in 1899; and again to 365,483 in 1909. The aggregate yield in 1909 was 38,243,828 bushels, as compared to 23,476,444 bushels in 1899. The average yield per acre was 105 bushels; the average value per acre, $27.10.

IMMENSE INCREASE IN RYE.

The increase in rye for the 10 years ending with 1909 was 244,245 acres, or 140.3 per cent. From 22,815 acres in 1879, rye rose to 140,754 in 1889, to 174,096 in 1899, and again to 418,341 in 1909. Hence during the period from 1879 to 1909 rye increased more than eighteenfold. The total yield was 5,805,420 bushels; the average yield per acre 14 bushels; the average value per acre, $9.40.

SCIATICA

Is, as Nearly Everybody Knows, Extremely Painful.

The whole sciatic nerve is surcharged with pain, caused by inflammation, congestion or perhaps by a naturally rheumatic tendency found in many people. Eminent doctors and specialists agree that Sulfosol—soluble sulphur—is a dependable remedy in rheumatic conditions or predisposition. Inherited or otherwise, to rheumatism. In its truly soluble form, known as Sulfosol, sulphur is readily received into the blood, is quickly assimilated and manifests its greatest effectiveness in expelling uric acid from the system, and overcoming not only Sciatica, Rheumatism and Gout, but all blood and skin troubles. SULFOSOL is therefore the logical and efficient solvent and eradicator of blood taints.

SULFOSOL is the great vitalizer of the blood, expeller of uric acid and other blood taints and conquer of Gout and Rheumatism. * TO MAKE SANITARY
SURVEY OF THE OHIO *
* * * * *

The State Board of Health will begin a sanitary survey of the Ohio river, Monday, June 19th. The work will be under the charge of Mr. Jay Cravens, Water Chemist and Sanitary Engineer of the Board. The surveying party of three will have a motor and a houseboat and will begin their measurements and tests at the Ohio boundary line and apply them throughout the entire length of Indiana's water front. The survey will take cognizance of the chemical composition, character of the matters causing turbidity and microbe life of the river water; accurate measurements will be made of the quantity of pollution from cities, towns, and wastes from industrial plants; and by analysis the chemical character of such pollution will be determined.

The houseboat will be fitted with a laboratory so that the analysis and tests can be immediately made of fresh samples. Charts and maps necessary to illustrate the work will be made, and when the survey is finished, the State Health Board expects to be in possession of facts which will be invaluable in studying health and disease in its relation to the inhabitants of the counties bordering on the Ohio. Next year the Board will make a like survey of the Wabash. Dr Hurty says, "The present antipollution stream law passed in 1909, has been found very faulty in the courts, and before much progress can be made in preserving the streams of the state from pollution, some amendments of the present law must be secured. The amount of damage to public health and to property resulting from stream pollution is very great, and it is to be deeply deplored that the law intended to lessen this loss is so faulty."

Chicago Congressman Gives Vent to His Feelings.

GOING AFTER TUFT HUNTERS

The Great American Industry of Buying Up Dukes and Earls and Counts Has Fallen Under the Severe Displeasure of Representative Sabath, Who Wants the State Department to Make a Report on the Game.

Washington, June 21.—Said Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago to Representative Thetus Wilrette Sims of Linden, Tenn., on the floor of the house: "This is getting to be positively disgusting."

"What's disgusting?" asked Mr. Sims in surprise.

"This title business," said Mr. Sabath, indignantly. "Here a whole lot of American fathers are buying dukes and earls and counts for their daughters, and yet only two dozen of these girls are permitted to participate in the coronation. The high cost of titles has become an issue, although I suppose the manufacturing of several varieties of lords by King George this week may give temporary relief. Something has got to be done about it."

And while Thetus Wilrette looked on with open mouth and wide, admiring eyes, Mr. Sabath sat down at his desk and dashed off a neat little thing in the way of a resolution, directing the secretary of state to make an exhaustive investigation of the traffic in titles and report to the house.

"Be it resolved," says the resolution which Mr. Sabath dropped in the official basket, "that the secretary of state shall be, and hereby is, requested to ascertain through our ambassador to England, the names and titles of those who have been excluded from taking part or being present at the coronation ceremonies, and the reasons why they have been discriminated against."

By "those" Sabath means American-born peeresses, only two dozen of whom, it is said, are privileged to bask in the light that is reflected from the British throne.

The resolution also directs the secretary to find out from United States ambassadors, ministers and consuls, the maiden names and the present titles of those American-born wives of foreign title-bearers, the amount expended by them in securing and obtaining the titles, the amount of money they are now drawing from the United States for keeping the titles, and the number of them that have been forced to separate or divorce.

LORIMER SLUSH FUND

International Harvester Head Tells of Hines's Demands.

Washington, June 21.—Confirmation of the charges that Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman, endeavored to obtain $10,000 from the International Harvester company as a contribution to the alleged $100,000 Lorimer slush fund, was given by Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the concern. Hines is alleged to have engaged in raising funds for the election of Lorimer as a senator from Illinois. Mr. McCormick was called as the first witness by the Lorimer investigation committee of the senate.

"After Senator Lorimer's election," said Mr. McCormick, "Mr. Funk came to my office. He said that shortly before that Mr. Hines had met him in the Union League club in Chicago and asked a contribution of $10,000 to recoup a fund of $100,000 that had been used in the election of Lorimer. Mr. Funk said he had told Hines that the company would not consider making such contribution. I told Mr. Funk I was very glad he had taken that position."

Work For the Grand Jury.

Columbus, Ind., June 21.—James Hobson's body was disinterred by relatives and a bruise was found on the neck and a wound on the head. He was drowned in White river and rumors of foul play led to the disinterment. The matter will be referred to the grand jury.

COURT GLITTER DAZZLED HIM

"Words Cannot Describe the Beautiful Kaleidoscopic Maze of the Dancers or the Gorgeous Effect of the Costumes in the Procession," Declares Our London Correspondent in His Account of Shakespeare Ball.

London, June 21.—The Shakespeare ball of last night, it can be predicted, will live through history with the famous mask balls of the earlier ages. It out-pageanted all pageants of the present age. It revived the magnificence of Tudor England. At last night's ball there were not tawdry stage costumes, but real silk brocades, real gold and silver embroideries, real furs, real lace—the finest of all periods—setting off the beauty of some of the fairest women of English and American birth.

Priceless heirlooms of jewelry glittered in the hair and upon the bosoms and on the stomachs of the most beautiful women in the world. It was an enchanting picture upon a vast scale of magnificence. No modern evening dress appeared to mar the beauty of the scene. It was obligatory upon every one of the 3,000 or 4,000 guests that they appear in Tudor or Shakespearean costume, covering almost all of the periods of the world's history.

The Albert hall was transformed into a wonderful Italian garden. The roof represented a blue sky to which had been added a sunny finish which seemed to affect the spirits of the dancers. Contrary to expectation, the king and queen did not attend. Special boxes on the grand tier had been held for the notables, and here was present almost every member of the royal family except the sovereigns.

The dancing continued until midnight, when the floor was cleared for the processional entrance of the Elizabethan court. All members were the descendants or the wives of descendants of the historical characters represented. The court ranged itself picturesquely upon the special platform on which Elizabeth was enthroned. Then began a series of quadrilles of mated knights and ladies and a procession of dancers before the throne. The music for the quadrilles was specially arranged by Emerson Whitemore, the American, and was chosen from the music of the Elizabethan period, the spirit of which was admirably preserved. Words cannot describe the beautiful kaleidoscopic maze of the dancers, or the gorgeous effect of the costumes in the procession.

The John Hays Hammonds were the guests of the Burdette-Couttess. Mrs. Hammond wore a Catherine of Aragon dress of Spanish brocade and a gold headdress.

Wild-Eyed Mountaineers Brandish Revolvers at Revival.

Georgetown, Ky., June 21.—While Rev. John Christopherson was conducting a revival meeting at the Oakdale schoolhouse, near Oxford, Scott county, two mountaineers, Cal Peak and Elza Peak, entered and drew their revolvers upon the assembled worshippers.

They caused so much disturbance by breaking up the umbrellas of the congregation and brandishing horsewhips that the services were discontinued for the evening. Elza was arrested and brought to Georgetown.

Taylorville, Ill., June 21.—After being refused a ticket for a fast train by the station agent at Raymond, Charles Carter, of Morrisonville, who wished to attend the bedside of a sister who was sick, attempted to board the train anyway, and fell beneath the wheels. His life was crushed out.

That Pair of Scales.

From the meeting of the city council last night it is plainly evident that at least one councilman wants the scales in front of the Hiner livery stable removed. The petition requesting the removal of the scales and argued by one man was presented at the last meeting of the council, which occurred June 6. The scales are the property of the man owning the building and not Mr. Hiner. These scales are in good condition and are not an obstruction in the street, being next to the curb, therefore not interfering with the traffic in Perkins street. These weighing instruments can not be a detriment to the property surrounding them or they would have been declared so long ago, for they have been in the same place for at least 30 years. If these scales had been a nuisance and a detriment to the neighborhood, would not the "city dads" in preceding years have heard about them and taken action? Just why one councilman should take the stand he did against them is a matter of much speculation. If it had been some transaction involving a large amount of money it would be different, but as it is, a pair of scales doing no one any more harm and not hindering the city beautiful idea of our friend who petitioned for their removal. Let them stay.

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall, our esteemed fellow townsman, has formally announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Hall has filled the office of Lieutenant Governor so acceptably and made such a good impression as a presiding officer of the Senate that he has gained many supporters in the State.

The Senate has been in session only 82 hours, and probably half that time was spent in coaching the new members on "senatorial courtesy."

Each party in Congress is spending so much time trying to put the other in a hole, that it's a' most out of sight itself.

means that if a vehicle desires to stop at a store, the vehicle will have to be facing on the right side of the street. In order to make a turn at a street crossing it will be necessary to go to the center of the street. Notices of the ordinance will be given to all drivers of vehicles, and the police will be easy with the people at first until they become educated with the style of driving provided for by the ordinance. The penalty is a fine of not less than one dollar and not more than $50 and thirty days in jail. The rules were suspended and the ordinance advanced to the second and third readings and passed.

A petition from O'Neil Bros., W. E. Wallace and Isaac Miller for cement walks in North Arthur street was granted. Mrs. Rutherford petitioned for walks in South Morgan street from First street to the race. The matter was referred to the street and alley committee. Theodore Abercrombie petitioned council to remove a tree from the alley between Main and Morgan north of Eleventh street. It was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

Supt. Mahin of the water and light plant reported to the council that there were two poles on the W. J. Hite property in West Third street that he had tried to obtain but could not as the property is not in the corporation. In order to secure the poles, plans will be made to take the property into the city of Rushville and plans were started to incorporate that side of Third street.

Littleford Bros. of Cincinnati presented a claim for $28.15 for additional breeching at the Water and Light plant. The claim was allowed after much discussion. It was contended that either the city engineer or Mr. Mahin had made the mistake in the specifications necessitating the additional expense.

Ed Spradling, of the firm of Wilk, Spradling & Redman presented a claim for $118.56 for oiling street and alley crossings. The claim was not allowed on the grounds that the city had not made a contract or agreed to pay for the oiling of the crossings. The bill was referred to the finance committee.

The question of drilling wells was again discussed and the various costs and places for digging them but no action was taken.

Claims amounting to about $1500 were allowed and the treasurer's report for the month of May was accepted.

No, they had no sign out at the tabernacle today that free coffee was being served.

Our council meeting has passed without an animated discussion on street cleaning.

And what became of that petition for the use of the streets for a carnival, which was rumored to be lying in the embryo and to be ready to spring at the city council?

We have concluded that that old axiom, "half the world doesn't know what the other half does" was started before the day of the party-line telephone.

Who wants to be a June bride anyway.

said so long as the trunk is left the limbs will thrive, but that it was God's plan to chop down the trunk. He declared that the unbeliever is already condemned and is a rebel against the government of God.

"I am a Southerner and I am not ashamed of it," asserted Evangelist Orr, "and if I were you would have no respect for me. We rebelled against the government and we had to surrender in time. I am not saying that we had the right to rebel. If I do not receive Him, I am a rebel. You must surrender or die. One of the reasons why a man should surrender is because it is the very first work he can do for God. No gift is acceptable to God until after you have staked arms and surrendered."

The evangelist pointed out that one of the principal reasons why man should believe and receive Christ is because it is the only way he can be saved. He stated that man must also believe and receive Him in order to escape the condemnation of hell. He stated that God never damned a soul for he gave every person an opportunity to be saved by following His commandments.

Can a man believe and receive just as he is, can a man be saved without receiving Christ, is a good moral man lost if he rejects Christ, and is God not going to save the heathen who never knew anything of the Christian religion? These are some of the questions Evangelist Orr said had been put to him. The evangelist averred that God has never yet put a man in hell and that he never will. Sin kindled the eternal fire, he said, and paved the way to hell.

Evangelist Orr pointed out that well known passage of scripture, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believed in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." He said that passage is both inclusive and exclusive and that it is very definite. He said that is the passage which the Universalists sought to pick to pieces.

After Evangelist Orr had quoted a dozen passages in which he piled up convincing argument after convincing argument from scripture that man can not be saved unless he receives Christ in the parlance of the attorney who pleads before the bar, said, "I rest the case. I stand here tonight," he continued, "between you and hell and tell you candidly that there is absolutely no chance for the man who will not receive God."

"Now about the heathen. They have the disease of sin and the penalty for that is death. The remedy came two thousand years ago when God sent his son to save the world. God said go and preach to all the world and yet you toy with pleasures and let the heathen go down to hell. There is absolutely no heaven in all the domains of God for the unconverted man. You unsaved laugh at workers and say, 'not tonight,' when you are then condemned.

"If what God said be true, then the question of vital importance is, when should I receive Him? There are many opinions on that topic. I believe they should be saved as children. All of my children were converted and accepted Christ before they were ten years old except one boy seven years old and I believe he is almost ready judging from the talk I had with him Christmas.

"I know an experience which a worker had with a mother right here in this tabernacle. The worker pleaded with the mother but she would not consent. She had a thirteen-year-old child by her side, who wanted to join the church. That mother would not allow her child to come forward. She finally gave as an excuse that perhaps the child would not join her church. She would let the child go to hell because she feared it would not join her church.

"That is one thing for which I want to compliment the Catholic church. I disagree with them on many things, but on one thing I think they are right. They take care of their children. They send them to their own schools and will not allow them to go to Protestant schools until they have a thorough education in the Catholic religion. And for that reason it is very seldom that any are ever changed from the Catholic faith. I believe that every child should be in the church at the age of ten years."

Again the evangelist deplored that common belief that a young man should "sow his wild oats." He declared that there were men who would squeeze this old world for all that it is worth and then throw the old hulk to God and ask for His saving grace.

"All life, all destiny, all hell, is wrapped in that one word, n-o-w," he declared. The evangelist asked why now is the best time. He said, first, because it is the best time to obtain one's own salvation. He said that thoughtful men insure their houses while at the same time they have no insurance on their soul.

"Another reason why now is the best time," the evangelist said, "is because you have rejected Him time and time again. And lastly because you should help others to accept Christ. The influence which some men have would bring many people to Jesus. The most horrible thing besides going to hell is to take others with you."

The Rev. J. W. Turner conducted the opening services. He asked the audience to give an invitation to the unsaved in unison and a familiar Bible passage was quoted. He declared that a beautiful spirit of unity was existing during the meetings, that the Christians were one with a common God and a common end in view. He recalled that James E. Watson and John D. McGee, Republican and Democrat, came together with one end in view—that of saving souls. The Rev. Mr. Turner told a story which had been an experience of his own son, who is in the navy and who went around the world with the U. S. fleet, to illustrate how men will work to save the life of one of their comrades and yet they will do little to save the souls of their fellowmen.

Last night's singing, led by Harry Ross, was a feature. He sang a solo, "Drifting Down."

Portola Theater Owners Bring Suit in Henry Circuit Court

Warner L. Schmidt and his sister, Mrs. Frank West, are plaintiffs in an action against Charles B. Thompson, to recover the amount of $52,50, alleged to be usurious interest held by the defendant, says the New Castle Courier. According to the complaint the plaintiffs borrowed $500 from the defendant on March 15, agreeing to pay interest at the rate of 40 per cent. per annum. The loan was made for a period of six months. On May 27, it is alleged, the original loan, together with the interest, amounting in all to $567.50, was paid to the defendant and the note cancelled. It is charged that the rate of interest was illegal and that $15 was a sufficient sum to pay for the loan for the time it was in force. The suit has been brought to recover the difference between $515 and $567.50 which was paid.

EARLHAM WINS LONG STRUGGLE

Announcement is Made Today at the Commencement Exercises That Goal Has Been Reached.

TOTAL IS MORE THAN $50,000

College is Free From Debt For First Time in 30 Years—President Thankful.

Earlham College wins! This was the announcement that made today's commencement exercises the most important ever conducted at Earlham—for it carried the first news of the success of Earlham's campaign for $50,000—a campaign inaugurated May 12, and pushed all through Indiana and Ohio and Illinois also were within the field of campaign, and contributed generously to the success of the movement, that will for the first time in thirty years leave Earlham college free from debt.

The final figures show that Earlham's friends, in their enthusiasm, were not content to stop at $50,000 but carried the total well beyond that goal. From the State came a little more than the $40,000 asked. And from Richmond came a little more than the $10,000 apportioned there. The announcement of victory was made by President Kelly and following it there was a tremendous demonstration by the students and the old friends who are back for commencement.

The money raised in the campaign paves the way for a Greater Earlham in every sense of the word. Interest charges on the debt will now cease and there is every prospect that large increases will be made to the endowment fund.

"We are very grateful to the hundreds of our friends who have so loyally and generously aided Earlham," said President Kelly. "The newspapers of Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois have also been very kind and have contributed space in their columns that has done much to tell the people of our need and our effort. We have won, and Earlham now faces the brightest future of all her many years. We are to be no longer hampered and harried by the burden of debt. We are to be free to give our best thought and attention to the welfare of the college. There is every prospect that our endowment will be increased now that Earlham has demonstrated its vigor and vitality by ridding itself of debt. Years of increasing usefulness are ahead of Earlham—years filled with great opportunities. And Earlham is now ready for them, stronger and more able than ever before because of the obstacle which has just been removed from her path."

Begin Sleeping on a Better Mattress Tonight

THE COTTON used in these felt mattresses is cleaned and purified by a special process of steam and dry heat. That makes it absolutely sanitary.

The purified cotton is worked and beaten into soft flaked sheets. Every particle of foreign matter that might interfere with the elasticity of the mattress has been removed.

Fifteen of these downy sheets are piled high on top of each other. Then the billowy mass is carefully compressed, covered with a high grade of imported ticking, and tufted.

This mattress will never lose its elasticity or become lumpy. You could not ask for one more perfectly comfortable.

AMUSEMENTS

The Airdome will have a complete change of program tonight.

The Vaudet will offer two good films for tonight's program. "The Red Skin's Secret" is a Bison Indian picture and is said to be as good as those which have been produced by the same company here. The Solax film, "The Little Flower Girl" is a dramatic subject which is said to be an excellent one. Leon Maxey will sing a new song.

The Palace will show the usual two reels of pictures tonight. The first is an Essanay "What a Woman Can Do." The story is clearly told and the incidents are intensely dramatic. A great moral is told in this picture and it is very realistic. The other is a Pathe, "Max is Forced to Work." The picture is a great comedy and the fun comes rapidly. On this reel is shown an educational subject, "Through Venice." A new song will be sung.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Fairbain and Christie.

Dr. Fairbain had originally joined the searching party, fully as eager as Keith himself to run down the renegade Hawley, but after an hour of resultless effort, his entire thought shifted to the woman they had left alone at the hotel. He could not, as yet, fully grasp the situation, but he remained loyal to the one overpowering truth that he loved Christie Maclaire. Fairbain's nature was rough, original, yet loyal to the core. He had lived all his life long in army camps, and upon the frontier, and his code of honor was extremely simple. It never once occurred to him that Christie's profession was not of the highest, or that her life and associations in any way unfitted her for the future. To his mind she was the one and only woman. His last memory of her, as the little party of men filed out of that room, haunted him until he finally dropped out of the search and drifted back toward the hotel.

It was a late hour, yet it was hardly likely the woman had retired. Her excitement, her interest in the pursuit, would surely prevent that; moreover, he was certain he saw a light still burning in her room, as he looked up from the black street below. Nevertheless he hesitated, uncertain of his reception. Bluff, emphatic, never afraid to face a man in his life, his heart now beat fiercely as he endeavored to muster the necessary courage. Far down the dark street some roysterer fired a shot, and sudden fear lest he might be sought after professionally sent the doctor hurriedly within, and up the stairs. He stood, just outside her door, quaking like a child, the perspiration beading his forehead, but a light streamed through the transom, and he could plainly hear movements within. At last, in sudden spasm of courage, he knocked softly. Even in that noisy spot she heard instantly, opening the door without hesitation, and standing fully dressed within. She was no longer a discouraged, sobbing girl, but an aroused, intent woman, into whose pathetic, lonely life there had come a new hope. She appeared younger, fairer, with the light shimmering in her hair and her eyes smiling welcome.

"Oh, Doctor," and her hands were thrust out towards him, "I am glad you have come. Somehow, I thought you would, and I have wanted so to talk to some one—to you."

"To me! Do you really mean that, Miss Christie?"

"Yes, I really mean that, you great bear of a man," and the girl laughed lightly, dragging him into the room and closing the door. "Why, who else could I expect to come to-night? You were the only one really good to me. You—you acted as if you believed in me all the time!"

"I did, Christie; you bet I did," broke in the delighted doctor, every nerve tingling. "I'd a' cleaned out that whole gang if you'd only said so, but I reckon now it was better to let them tell all they knew. It was like thunder storm clearing the atmosphere."

"Oh, it was, indeed! Now I know who I am—who I am! Isn't that simply glorious? Sit down, Doctor Fairbain, there in the big chair where I can see your face. I want to talk, talk; I want to ask questions, a thousand questions; but it wouldn't do any good to ask them of you, would it?"

You don't know anything about my family, do you?"

"Not very much, I am afraid, only that you have got an almighty pretty half-sister," admitted the man, emphatically, "and old Waite possesses the vilest temper ever given a human being. He's no blood kin to you, though."

"No, but he is awfully good underneath, isn't he?"

"Got a heart of pure gold, old Waite. Why, I've seen him cry like a baby over one of his men that got hurt."

"Have you known him, then, for a long while?"

"Ever since the Spring of '61. I was brigaded with him all through the war, and had to cut a bullet or so out of his hide before it ended. If there was ever a fight, Will's Waite was sure to get his share. He could swear some then, but he's improved since, and I reckon now he could likely claim the championship."

"Did—did you know my mother also?" and Christie leaned forward, her eyes suddenly grown misty. "I haven't even the slightest memory of her."

The doctor's heart was tender, and he was swift to respond, reaching forth and grasping the hand nearest him. He had made love before, yet somehow this was different; he felt half afraid of this woman, and it was a new sensation altogether, and not unpleasant.

"I saw her often enough in those days, but not since. She was frequently in camp, a very sweet-faced woman; you have her eyes and hair, as I remember. Waite ought to have recognized you at first sight. By Heavens! that was what made me so internally mad, the mulish obstinacy of the old fool. Your mother used to come to the hospital tent, too; one of the best nurses I ever saw. I thought she was a beauty then, but she's some older by this time," he paused regretfully. "You see, I'm no spring chicken, myself."

Her eyes were upon his face, a slight flush showing in either cheek, and she made no effort to withdraw her imprisoned hand.

"You are just a nice age," with firm conviction. "Boys are tiresome, and I think a little gray in the hair is an improvement. Oh, you mustn't imagine I say this just to please you—I have always thought so, since—well, since I grew up. Besides, fleshy men generally look young, because they are so good natured, perhaps. How old are you, Doctor?"

"It isn't the gray hairs I mind, either," he admitted hesitatingly, "but I'm too darned bald-headed. Oh, I ain't so old, for I was only thirty-five when the war broke out. I was so thin then I could hardly cast a shadow. I've changed some since," casting his eyes admiringly downward, "and got quite a figure. I was forty-three last month."

"That isn't old; that's just right." "I've been afraid you looked on me as being an old fogey!"

"I should say not," indignantly. "Why should you ever think that?"

"Well, there were so many young fellows hanging about."

"Who?"

"Oh, Keith, and Hawley, and that bunch of officers from the fort; you never had any time to give me."

She laughed again, her fingers tightening in their clasp on his hand.

"Why, how foolish; Hawley is older than you are, and I was only playing with Keith. Surely you must know that now. And as to the officers, they were just fun. You see, in my profession, one has to be awfully nice to

"But didn't you really care for Hawley?" he insisted, bluntly probing for facts.

"He—he interested me," admitted the girl, hesitatingly, her eyes darkening with sudden anger. "He lied and I believed him—I would have believed any one who came with such a story. Oh, Dr. Fairbain," and she clung to him now eagerly, "you can't realize how hungry I have been for what he brought me. I wanted to know the truth of my birth. Oh, I hated this life!" She flung her disengaged hand into the air, with a gesture expressive of disgust. "I was crazy to get away from it. That was what made the man look good to me—he promised so much. You will believe me, won't you? Oh, you must; I am going to make you. I am a singer in music halls; I was brought up to that life from a little girl, and of course, I know what you Western men think of us as a class. Hawley showed it in his whole manner toward me, and I resented it; just for that, deep down in my heart, I hated him. I know it now, that I really understand his purpose; but some way, when I was with him he seemed to fascinate me, to make me do just as he willed. But you have never been that way; you—you have acted as though I was somebody—somebody nice, and not just a music-hall singer. Perhaps it's just your way, and maybe, deep down you don't think I'm any better than the other do, but—I want you to think I am, and I am going to tell you the truth, and you must believe me—I am a good girl."

"Great God! of course you are," he blurted out. "Don't you suppose I know? That isn't what has been bothering me, lassie. Why, I'd a' fought any buck whod'a sneered at you. What I wanted to know was, whether or not you really cared for any of those duffers. Can you tell me that, Christie?"

She lifted her eyes to his face, her lips parted. "I can answer anything you ask." "And you do not care for them?" "No." He drew his breath sharply, his round face rosy. "Then you have got to listen to me, for I'm deadly in earnest. I'm an old, rough, bald-headed fool that don't know much about women—I never thought before I'd ever want to—but you can bet on one thing, I'm square. Anybody in this town will tell you I'm square. They'll tell you that whatever I says goes. I've never run around much with women; somehow I never exactly liked the kind I've come up against, and maybe they didn't feel any particular interest in me. I didn't cut much shade as a ladies' man, but, I reckon now, it's only because the right one hadn't happened along. She is here now, though, all right, and I knew it the very first time I set eyes on her. Oh, you roped and tied me all right the first throw. Maybe I did get you and that half-sister mixed up a bit, but just the same you were the one I really wanted. Hope's all right; she's a mighty fine girl, but you are the one for me. Christie Could you—could you care for such a duffer as I am?"

Her lips were smiling and so were her eyes, but it was a pleading smile. "I don't think it would be so very hard," she admitted, "not if you really wanted me to."

"You know what I mean—that I love you—wish you to be my wife?"

"I supposed that was it—that—that you wanted me."

"Yes, and—and you will love?"

Her head dropped slowly, so slowly he did not realize the significance of the action until her lips touched his hand.

"I do," she said; "you are the best man in the world."

Fairbain could not move, could not realize what it all meant. The outcome had been so sudden, so surprising, that all power of expression deserted him. In bewilderment he lifted her face and looked into her eyes. Perhaps she realized—with the swift intuition of a clever woman—the man's perplexity, for instantly she led his mind to other things.

"But let us not talk of ourselves any more, tonight. There is so much I wish to know; so much that ought to be done." She sprang to her feet. "Why, it is almost shameful for us to stay here, selfishly happy, while others are in such trouble. Have they discovered Hope?"

"No; we scoured the whole town and found no trace. Now they are outside on the prairie, but there can be little chance of their picking up a trail before daylight."

"And Hawley?"

"He has vanished also; without doubt they are together. What do you suppose he can want of her? How do you imagine he ever got her to go with him? She isn't that sort of a girl."

She shook her head, shivering a little.

"He must have mistaken her for me—perhaps has not even yet discovered his mistake. But what it all means, or how he gained her consent to go with him, I cannot conceive."

She stood with hands clasped, staring out of the window.

"There is a little light showing already," she exclaimed, pointing. "See, yonder. Oh, I trust they will find her alive, and unhurt. That man, I believe, is capable of any crime. But couldn't you be of some help? Why should you remain here with me? I am in no danger."

"You really wish me to go, Christie?"

"Not that way—not that way," and she turned impulsively, with hands outstretched. "Of course I want you here with me, but I want you to help bring Hope back."

He drew her to him, supremely happy now, every feeling of embarrassment lost in complete certainty of possession.

"And I will," he said solemnly. "Wherever they may have gone I shall follow. I am going now, dear, and when I come back you'll be glad to see me?"

"Shall I?" her eyes uplifted to his own, and swimming in tears. "I will be the happiest girl in all the world, I reckon. Oh, what a night this has been! What a wonderful night! It has given me a name, a mother, and the man I love."

He kissed her, not in passion, but in simple tenderness, and as he turned away she sank upon her knees at the window, with head bowed upon the sill. At the door he paused and looked back, and she turned and smiled at him. Then he went out, and she knelt there silently, gazing forth into the dawn, her eyes blurred with tears—facing a new day, and a new life.

FINDS NEW PEST IN WHEAT THIS YEAR

B. W. Douglas State Entomologist,

Declares Meromyza Americana is Attacking the Grain.

EXAMINES MANY SPECIMENS

Plants Affected Appear Normal, But Heads Turn White And Grain is Stunted.

B. W. Douglass, state entomologist, has received a number of specimens of wheat from one of the northern counties of the state, with the complaint that the heads of grain were not properly filling out. On examination the samples are found to be infested with the larva of the wheat stem maggot (Meromyza Americana).

This is a small fly, the larva of which attack the stems of various grasses and sometimes are injurious to the wheat. The plants that are attacked appear to be perfectly normal, but the heads turn white, and the grain fails to fill out. The insect has three broods each year and the brood that comes in the fall may be confused with the injury caused by the hessian fly.

The wheat stem maggot is a difficult pest to control. Mr. Douglass said, owing to the fact that it does not confine its injury to one species of plant, but may injure many different kinds of wild grasses. This attack on wild grasses serves to provide plenty of insects to attack the cultivated crops.

The best means of preventing injury is to plant the wheat as late in the fall as possible. In this way the flies are forced to attack the native grasses and leave the wheat uninjured, the entomologist holds. It is also a good practice to plant what is termed a trap crop. In this case this would consist of a few rows of wheat planted early. After the eggs of the fly were laid in this strip of wheat, the wheat would be destroyed either by burning or by plowing under. The insect is a native of America, and is controlled by the action of a number of parasites, so a year of serious infestation is usually followed by comparative freedom from attack.

It is worse than useless to take any medicines internally for muscular or chronic rheumatism. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

Woman's Power

Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

SLIGHT GAIN IN INDIANA CROPSIncrease of Acreage In Ten Years Only 3.3 Per Cent.

THIRTEENTH CENSUS RESULTS

Official Statement Issued by the Census Department Gives Statistics Relative to the Leading Crops For
the Hoosier State, Ranking as Follows in Order of Valuation: Corn,
Wheat, Hay, Oats and Potatoes.Washington, June 21.—An official statement issued today by Acting Census Director Falkner carries statistics relative to the leading crops for the state of Indiana collected at the thirteenth decennial census.The leading crops in 1909, ranked in the order of valuation, were: Corn, $98,438,000; wheat, $33,593,000; hay
and forage, $24,883,000; oats, $18,929,- 000; potatoes, $3,816,000; tobacco, $2,- 145,000; rye, $744,000.During the ten years between 1890
and 1909 corn increased 401,805 acres, or 8.9 per cent. From 1879, when 3,- 678,420 acres were harvested, corn fell to 3,586,196 in 1889, but by 1899 rose to 4,499,249, and again in 1909 to 4,901,-
454. The total yield in 1909 was 195,- 496,433 bushels; the average yield per acre, 40 bushels; and the average value per acre, $20.10.Hay and forage showed a decrease of 141,835 acres, or 5.8 per cent, between 1899 and 1909. The total yield in 1909 was 2,880,104 tons, valued at $24,883,461. The average yield per acre for all hay and forage was 1.3
tons; the average value per acre,
$10.80.Wheat in the decade decreased 810,- 458 acres, or 28 per cent. The aggregate yield in 1909 was 33,935,972 bushels, of which 33,901,949 bushels was winter wheat. The average yield per acre was sixteen bushels; the average value per acre, $16.10.Oats during the ten-year period increased 650,433 acres, or 63.9 per cent.
The total yield in 1909 was 50,607,913
bushels; the average yield per acre,
30 bushels; the average value per acre,
$11.35.Potatoes increased 15,259 acres, or 18.1 per cent. The aggregate yield in 1909 was 8,905,679 bushels, as compared with 6,209,080 bushels in 1899.
The average yield per acre was 99
bushels; the average value per acre,
$8.35.An increase of 15,460 acres, or 188.1
per cent was made by tobacco during the ten years. The total yield in 1909
was 21,387,824 pounds; the average yield per acre, 903 pounds; the average value per acre, $90.60.The increase in rye from 1899 to 1909 was 39,878 acres, or 91.5 per cent.
The total yield was 1,121,589 bushels;
the average yield per acre, 13 bushels;
and the average value per acre, $8.90.
The cereals had an aggregate acreage
of 8,752,732 acres in 1909, an increase for the decade of 281,023 acres, or 3.3 per cent.Mrs. Taft in extending this courtesy had in mind particularly the thousands who Monday night lined
the streets outside of the big iron fence enclosing the White House grounds. The decorations last night
were the same as the night before—the countless Japanese lanterns all aglow, the same blaze of colored incandescent festooning the limbs of the trees, and the same play of the powerful electric light rays on the converging streams of the big fountain in the White House lot. It is estimated that 10,000 persons visited the grounds in the course of the evening and enjoyed the sight. The United States marine band furnished the music.The wool bill goes to the senate with the prestige of having passed the house by a big majority. The house insurgents are of the opinion that their brethren in the senate will assist the Democrats of that body in an effort that is to be made to bring the measure up for a vote. Democrats and insurgents appear to be possessed of the idea that Mr. Taft will be placed in an embarrassing position if the bill is put up to him for approval.

RAN INTO WASHOUT

Fatal Wreck on the L. & N. Near Little Meadow Creek.

Campbellsville, Ky., June 1.—An L. and N. passenger train ran into a washout near Little Meadow Creek and was carried down the embankment, and turned over in several feet of water.Engineer Henry Pope was scalped
so badly that he died later.Six passengers were slightly hurt, as was Conductor Turner, Baggage Master Hagan and Brakeman Peck.

THIRTEENTH CENSUS RESULTS

Official Statement Issued by the Census Department Gives Statistics
Relative to the Leading Crops For
the Hoosier State, Ranking as Follows in Order of Valuation: Corn,
Wheat, Hay, Oats and Potatoes.Washington, June 21.—An official statement issued today by Acting Census Director Falkner carries statistics
relative to the leading crops for the state of Indiana collected at the thirteenth decennial census.The leading crops in 1909, ranked
in the order of valuation, were: Corn, $98,438,000; wheat, $33,593,000; hay
and forage, $24,883,000; oats, $18,929,-
000; potatoes, $3,816,000; tobacco, $2,- 145,000; rye, $744,000.During the ten years between 1890
and 1909 corn increased 401,805 acres,
or 8.9 per cent. From 1879, when 3,- 678,420 acres were harvested, corn fell to 3,586,196 in 1889, but by 1899 rose to 4,499,249, and again in 1909 to 4,901,-
454. The total yield in 1909 was 195,- 496,433 bushels; the average yield per acre, 40 bushels; and the average value per acre, $20.10.Hay and forage showed a decrease of 141,835 acres, or 5.8 per cent, between 1899 and 1909. The total yield
in 1909 was 2,880,104 tons, valued at $24,883,461. The average yield per acre for all hay and forage was 1.3
tons; the average value per acre,
$10.80.Wheat in the decade decreased 810,- 458 acres, or 28 per cent. The aggregate yield in 1909 was 33,935,972 bushels,
of which 33,901,949 bushels was winter wheat. The average yield per acre was sixteen bushels; the average value per acre, $16.10.Oats during the ten-year period increased 650,433 acres, or 63.9 per cent.
The total yield in 1909 was 50,607,913
bushels; the average yield per acre,
30 bushels; the average value per acre,
$11.35.Potatoes increased 15,259 acres, or 18.1 per cent. The aggregate yield in 1909 was 8,905,679 bushels, as compared with 6,209,080 bushels in 1899.
The average yield per acre was 99
bushels; the average value per acre,
$8.35.An increase of 15,460 acres, or 188.1
per cent was made by tobacco during
the ten years. The total yield in 1909
was 21,387,824 pounds; the average
yield per acre, 903 pounds; the average value per acre, $90.60.The increase in rye from 1899 to 1909 was 39,878 acres, or 91.5 per cent.
The total yield was 1,121,589 bushels;
the average yield per acre, 13 bushels;
and the average value per acre, $8.90.
The cereals had an aggregate acreage
of 8,752,732 acres in 1909, an increase
for the decade of 281,023 acres, or 3.3
per cent.Mrs. Taft in extending this courtesy had in mind particularly the thousands who Monday night lined
the streets outside of the big iron
fence enclosing the White House
grounds. The decorations last night
were the same as the night before—
the countless Japanese lanterns all aglow, the same blaze of colored incandescent festooning the limbs of
the trees, and the same play of the powerful electric light rays on the converging streams of the big fountain
in the White House lot. It is estimated that 10,000 persons visited the
grounds in the course of the evening
and enjoyed the sight. The United States marine band furnished the music.The wool bill goes to the senate with the prestige of having passed the house by a big majority. The house
insurgents are of the opinion that
their brethren in the senate will assist
the Democrats of that body in an effort
that is to be made to bring the measure up for a vote. Democrats
and insurgents appear to be possessed
of the idea that Mr. Taft will be placed in an embarrassing position if the bill is put up to him for approval.The last stand of the Republicans against the bill was made on a motion of Representative Payne of New York that the measure be sent back to the committee on ways and means with instructions to that committee to hold it until report of the wool schedule was made by the tariff board. This was defeated by a strict party vote.The wool bill goes to the senate

Two Boys and a Gun.

Muncie, Ind., June 21.—"I'll shoot you," remarked little Edgar Boyer, five years old, to his companion, Ralph Hinshaw, the same age, as both entered a shooting gallery in Riverside park.

The Boyer child fired at his playmate, the bullet passing through the cheek and jawbone and landing at the base of the tongue. The child who did the shooting did not know the gun was loaded.

To Break Up Whitecap Gang.

Indianapolis, June 21.—It is acknowledged at the office of Governor Marshall that he has employed a detective to investigate the recent whitecap outrages in Monroe county. The governor is determined to break up the whitecap gang if sufficient evidence can be obtained to bring about convictions of the active participants.

Hargrove & Mullin, Rushville, Indiana.
Gentlemen:-

One cannot speak too highly of the Raymond Corn Cure. I have used nearly every corn cure that I could hear of. Some would give relief but no cure until a lady from Rushville told me about yours and gave me a bottle to use. She knows what wonders it did for me.

I have disposed of two of the bottles and still have one.

The cure is certain if directions are followed. I could not wear a decent shoe for over two years. Now I wear six and a half again with comfort.

Yours with best wishes for Raymond Corn Cure.

Frank J. Hall Makes Definite Announcement to Indianapolis Newspaper.

Will March to Tabernacle, Headed by Brass Band, Thursday Night— To Reserve Seats.

BUSINESS MEN DO GOOD WORKS

Large Crowd Attends Afternoon Service and Banquet—Many Take Advantage of Free Coffee.

If there ever was any doubt about Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall of this city becoming a candidate for Governor of Indiana, it was removed yesterday when Mr. Hall made the declaration in Indianapolis that he will seek to capture the Democratic nomination. He made such a declaration to local friends, but it is the first time that he has publicly announced his intentions. The Indianapolis Star says:

Mr. Hall was at the State House yesterday, and said that while Samuel Ralston of Lebanon, the avowed Taggart candidate, had been making rather a vigorous campaign for the nomination, he had been quietly making an investigation of the situation and he believed he could win over Mr. Ralston in the convention.

"After all, it is a matter that rests with the people," said Mr. Hall. "I believe the people dictate the nomination of candidates just as much as they do their election. I believe I can get the nomination, but, of course, so many things are to be taken into consideration that no one can tell for sure at this time what the result will be. I expect, at any rate, to be a candidate."

Mr. Hall remarked further that he believed Taggart would be friendly to his candidacy and that State Senator Stephen B. Fleming of Fort Wayne, who is a strong factor in Democratic politics in Indiana, also would favor it. In addition Mr. Hall said he believed the people of Vigo county would be friendly to him and that delegates to the convention from many quarters of the State would look with favor upon his desires for the nomination.

Up to the present time, it has been supposed that Mr. Ralston would be able to hold the solid support of the Taggart faction of the party, and while many politicians do not consider Mr. Hall's candidacy at this time very seriously, it was pointed out that his entering the race might swing a sufficient number of Taggart delegates from Ralston to a "dark horse" to beat the Lebanon man.

GONE ON EXTENDED TRIP

Dr. J. C. Sexton Will Attend Medical Association Meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Sexton left this morning for Indianapolis, where they joined a party of Indiana physicians and their families and left there this afternoon in a special car for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will attend the annual meeting of the American Medical Association. Dr. and Mrs. Sexton will visit other places of interest and will make an extended stay in Albany, Oregon, the guest of their daughter, Mrs. Crandal Green. They expect to return about September 1.

WANTS SWEET PEAS.

T. W. Lytle, the druggist, will thank any persons in the city who have sweet peas from the seeds which he gave away last spring, if they will bring a bouquet of them to his store Friday morning. If they can not be brought and the persons will call the store, Mr. Lytle will send for them.

Some folks make great efforts to accumulate property—men spend a lifetime in making a fortune—all with a purpose.

Oftentimes this purpose is frustrated because it includes the accumulation of property, but does not include its disposition. The purpose to distribute one's property can be best carried out by a Will properly drawn by a competent attorney.

The selection of the Executor of your will is also important. We are authorized by law to act in the capacity of executor or trustee under wills.
